

What is needed to register a .be domain

You can easily and quickly register a .be domain name via our website
<https://www.behostings.com/fr/nomsdedomaines.php>

To register a domain name you must:

- All data is correct.
- There is a difference between registering the domain privately or corporately. This appears at the "domain name holder" level.

In society, the organization is visible:

In private, no information related to the owner is visible:

- It is very important to provide a valid email address, because it is via this address that we will contact you about your domain name (including the activation of it).
- Think carefully about the name under which you register your business domain name.
- If you are registering the domain in the name of a company, it is better to have a "general" email address at the company than an email address linked to a staff member. Example `dns@mycompany.tld` instead of `anne@mycompany.tld`.
- Domains are registered quickly, usually within 30 minutes after validation by our services.
